

SOUTH SIDE.

TEMPE.

Romeo Root returned from San Francisco yesterday morning. Mr. Root has been attending a medical college in that city.

E. B. Page, J. L. Perry and J. F. Hendrix drove to Sacramentos yesterday for the purpose of looking over the ground on which the government building will be built. The gentlemen will bid on its construction.

Messrs. Wakelin, Robinson and Anderson of Phoenix rode up to Tempe on their wheels yesterday.

E. M. Adams and Mr. O. Dell are pushing their chicken business. Saturday 140 chickens were hatched and as many more will be hatched by this evening. The demand for eggs is far beyond the supply. These gentlemen alone could sell 100 dozen a day if they had them.

Mr. Adams has three, one-half Norman fillies he wishes to sell. Their ages are two, three and four years and their weights are 1,200, 1,200 and 1,500 pounds. The three is Copper Bottom stock. Mr. Adams will sell all four for $225 cash.

A party of normal teachers and students were out on a little picnic yesterday. Some views were taken. The Congregationalists will hold services in their new church next Sunday. Everyone is invited to be present.

At the Baptist church at 11 a. m. Rev. William Whitaker took for his text the fourth verse of the second chapter of Revelations: "Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee because thou hast left thy first love." and in his discourse said: "The Christian's first love was satisfactory to Christ." He also said: "That on account of their leaving their first love towards God, He did not class them as blackheads in love, but as those who had turned away from God's love towards the church must be repudiated real and genuine, that genuine love towards God is necessary for spiritual growth; that on account of the church of Ephesus losing their love towards God there is not a genuine Christian church at Ephesus and the existence of the church at Tempe depends on their continuing in love towards God; not being satisfied with self at a lower standard than laid down by God." The speaker closed by saying: "God forbid that we become self-satisfied to that extent that we lose our love towards God." Several strangers were present, among whom was Mr. Dunlap, uncle to Mrs. VanNote. Rev. Whitaker's sermons are highly appreciated by his members and others.

Several persons from Mesa passed through this city on their wheels yesterday. Their destination was Phoenix. Three carloads of cattle were shipped from Tempe Saturday night.

MESA.

Rev. L. L. Rogers, pastor of the M. E. church of Tempe and Mesa preached Sunday morning at Mesa upon "Love the Queen and her royal servants, knowledge and good sense," taking as a text: Phil. 1:8. "And this I pray for your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and all judgment." The speaker said all judgment, was equivalent to our term good sense. Love should rule in all our affairs, assisted by knowledge and good sense. The chief forms of love are conjugal, parental and filial love, friendship, patriotism and charity. These should abound more and more. They assisted each other and bless us with a benign way. At home love should rule parents and children, guided by intelligence and sound common sense. Cultivate friendship and as life passes tenderly love father and mother more and more. Cultivate love for Jesus. Find in God your Heavenly Father. Know Him and love Him supremely. In church matters and religion, love is the chief essential part. But knowledge and good sense are very much needed to make effective our efforts.

The last train back from Mesa and Tempe today will carry people who wish to attend "The Chimes of Normandy," and will remain until after the opera. Tickets were sold at a great reduction and south siders who have not been able to attend the theater for a long time will have an opportunity to attend this excellent opera.

Collins' stage made a trip to Mesa, an unusual thing for Sunday.

The public school entertainment Saturday night was a grand success. Many have said that the cantata rendered by the grammar grade pupils had never been surpassed by any actors on the Mesa stage. The program was divided into two parts: primary and grammar grades. The selections of part I were as follows: Chorus, "Welcome," baby chorus; scarf drill; recitation, Cecil Banta; song, "Babies in the Woods;" "Boys' Rights;" Mother Goose ball; recitation, Les Peterson; "Boys' march;" "Bo-Bo-Bo-Well;" Fairy Stinson. The second part, the American Cantata, lasted about one hour. Fifty characters were represented. The sum of $48 was taken in at the door. There was hardly standing room anywhere in the building. The proceeds are to help build up the library.

At the trustees' meeting Saturday Prof. Loper was elected principal and John Metz, first assistant.

Several persons were baptized and taken into full communion in the M. E. church.

Those registered at the Alhambra are: T. E. Flannigan, A. L. Moon, Peter Martin, M. R. Bunker, B. W. McMarnie, L. G. McCoachen.

Those registered at the Kimball house are: S. M. Cullom, Miss Walker, W. W. Weber, Jessie Steel, Walter Porter and family, Thomas Batten, W. W. Wall and P. G. Chou.

"RAG TIME" NOT NEW.

It was Imported From Africa With the First Cargo of Slaves.

"Rag time" is not new. It was written by southern musicians, and whistled and sung and danced by southern negroes fifty years ago. And these people inherited it from previous generations of African ancestors. In what shape the jerky, peculiar rhythm called "rag time" first appeared in this country is not known, but from the testimony of musical experts it was a wildly savage affair until harmonized and made melodious by French and Spanish Creole influences.

"Rastus on Parade," "Georgia Camp Meeting" and "The Whistling Rufus" of today, "The Mole Buck" of a generation ago, are tuneful and replete with melody that incites the feet to motion and the voice to song. Previous to the widespread popularity of "The Mole Buck" the knowledge of "rag time" in the north was confined principally to the patrons of variety theaters and minstrel halls. In the south, however, it was heard frequently, not only among the ignorant slaves and poorer classes, but among the aristocratic leaders in the larger cities as well. Pretentious compositions were written by talented musicians in that more or less wild style.

One of the oldest of these compositions is one written forty years ago, and which probably is still the most musically effective based on "rag time." This is "The Pasquinade," written by Louis M. Gottschalk in New Orleans in the early '50s, when he was a pianist of high repute and great popularity in Europe and the two Americas. He was a native of New Orleans, his mother having descended from a French Creole family. His works, like his disposition, were brilliant, tender and melodious, but bright with the flash of fancy, rather than strong with imaginative power. He was considered the most able and competent pianist of his composition America had produced up to that time.

"Rag time" sympathized singularly with his idiosyncrasies as a composer, as is indicated clearly in every bar of his "Pasquinade," a composition deemed by leading pianists of the present day worthy to be included in programmes of high order. The measures fairly dance with the wild, constant changes of rhythm which constitute the foundation of what we are pleased to call "rag time," probably a contraction of "ragged time."

To go much farther into the past, it seems easy to trace the odd time under discussion to the early Africans. Robbed of its melody and tunefulness, the "rag time" of the American negro of today resembles that which any of the African and kindred races produce and have produced for centuries on their barbaric drums, tom-toms and similar instruments. The peculiar rhythm, with its sudden and unexpected changes, is the same in them all.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

THE NEWS OF WICKENBURG

Wickenburg, April 30.—(Special correspondence of The Republican.)—There is considerable activity all around us here in cattle, as this is the annual round-up period and the cowboys are bringing down to the east of us immense droves of cattle which are being corralled and shipped to different points over the S. F. P. & P. and Santa Fe railroads. During the past few days Superintendent Harry Burris of Brill's ranch has sent out two shipments of five carloads each and has as many more to follow. These are principally cattle gathered from F. R. Brill's ranges, which are very extensive in this section. Mr. Brill, though now a prominent resident of Phoenix, has been identified with the cattle business about here for a quarter of a century and is now one of the leading stockmen of the territory. It is such shipments as these with the reported shipment of ore to begin soon and the large amount of freight that comes in here daily that is going to make this point one of the best on the line in point of business transacted.

Arrangements have been made by Mr. F. X. O'Brien, operating a mill in Black Rock district, to have shipped in here three carloads of coal per month to be used as fuel by him at his works, which will be operated to their utmost capacity with this ample supply of fuel.

Fred W. Collis and E. M. McBrier of the Garcia Mining and Milling company stopped over here yesterday en route east and spent the day in inspecting the company's water pumping station below here on the Hassayampa and arranging some necessary repairs and improvements so as to have it in readiness to operate when they commence milling ore. For the present they are confining themselves to developing and opening up the mine and some adjoining properties so that when the mill is put in operation they will have plenty of ore on the dump and in storage for a continuous run. The present managers are intelligent business men who in a short time will redeem this well known property from the unfortunate condition its previous management brought it into.

Mrs. Robert Whiteside went down to Phoenix last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio Garcia and daughter are spending a few days in Phoenix.

SUES FOR HIS PRESENTS.

Man Squanders Money on a Girl Who Leaves Him for Another.

Because, as he says, she refused to give back, after she jilted him for another, the presents he gave to her under the understanding that she was to arrest of Olga Holzmaier of No. 54 Waverly avenue has caused the arrest of the Olga Holzmaier of No. 127 Walnut street. Justice Cohen held her under $200 bail. Miss Holzmaier is a prepossessing brunette of slender figure, 25 years old.

It was with tearful eyes that Hausling told his story to the justice. "For all the diamond rings, thavertars, balls and suppers I have spent money for because she was to be my wife, she has repaid me with deception; she has dropped me for another man. I met her a little more than a year ago. So far as I was concerned it was a case of love at first sight. I asked her if I could call and she said 'Certainly.' I took her to the theater once or twice a week after that and to no end of balls, parties and receptions. In summer we went on excursions to the seashore.

"Last Christmas I told her how much I loved her and asked her to be my wife. After hesitating a little while she said she would. I put a $35 diamond ring on her finger, but we did not set any time for the wedding. 'About a week after New Year's I asked her when we had better be married. She said she had not thought about a date, and asked me to wait awhile. When I asked her again about the wedding she astonished me by replying that she had decided not to be married to me after all. I thought she was only fooling; I did not believe she could be so cruel.

"The next time I called she insisted she was in earnest. I asked her to give back the ring, but she said she intended to keep it. I told her it was given to her as my fiancée, but this statement was of no avail.

"Worried and made me sick, and it was two months before I saw her again. Last week I called on her and she said she had another lover. That's why I want a lawyer, so that I could get back my money."

"This young man was my friend, not my lover," said the young woman to the justice. "We never talked of love. The ring was a Christmas present. It is mine and I won't give it up."—Newark dispatch to New York Press.
